Additional Consequences and Information

All convictions are placed in a permanent criminal record.

For underage drinking violations, offenses can be "stacked." In other words, a person charged and convicted of three separate offenses can receive all three fines or jail terms.

The South Carolina Supreme Court has clearly ruled that if an adult allows underage drinking on his/her property and one of the young people ends up causing damage, injury, or death to himself or others, then the adult can be held civilly liable.

Individuals convicted of a first DUI offense are required to:

- show proof of financial responsibility to the S.C. Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV), usually in the form of a guarantee of high-risk insurance coverage, for three years; and
- complete an Alcohol and Drug Safety Action Program before becoming eligible to apply to the DMV for reinstatement of their driver's licenses.

Second or subsequent DUI offenders must have an ignition interlock device placed on their vehicle(s) for a minimum of two years. (Effective Jan. 1, 2008)

The law enforcement agency with jurisdiction is required to investigate all vehicle crashes resulting in the injury or death of a person under age 21 as a result of a DUI.

Charges for DUI do not qualify for the pre-trial intervention program.
